In the companion novel to the beloved and award-winning Amina ' s Voice, Amina once again uses her voice to bridge the places, people, and communities she loves—this time across continents. It ' s the last few days of her vacation in Pakistan, and Amina has loved every minute of it. The food, the shops, the time she ' s spent with her family—all of it holds a special place in Amina ' s heart. Now that the school year is starting again, she ' s sad to leave, but also excited to share the wonders of Pakistan with her friends back in Greendale. After she ' s home, though, her friends don ' t seem overly interested in her trip. And when she decides to do a presentation on Pakistani hero Malala Yousafzai, her classmates focus on the worst parts of the story. How can Amina share the beauty of Pakistan when no one wants to listen?

From the critically acclaimed author of Amina ' s Voice comes a new story inspired by Louisa May Alcott ' s beloved classic, Little Women, featuring four sisters from a modern American Muslim family living in Georgia. When Jameela Mirza is picked to be feature editor of her middle school newspaper, she ' s one step closer to being an award-winning journalist like her late grandfather. The problem is her editor-in-chief keeps shooting down her article ideas. Jameela ' s assigned to write about the new boy in school, who has a cool British accent but doesn ' t share much, and wonders how she ' ll make his story gripping enough to enter into a national media contest. Jameela, along with her three sisters, is devastated when their father needs to take a job overseas, away from their cozy Georgia home for six months. Missing him makes Jameela determined to write an epic article—one to make her dad extra proud. But when her younger sister gets seriously ill, Jameela ' s world turns upside down. And as her hunger for fame looks like it might cost her a blossoming friendship, Jameela questions what matters most, and whether she ' s cut out to be a journalist at all...

It's the first day of Ramadan, and George is celebrating with his friend Kareem and his family. George helps Kareem with his first fast and joins in the evening celebration of tasting treats and enjoying a special meal. Then, George helps make gift baskets to donate to the needy, and watches for the crescent moon with the man in the yellow hat. Finally George joins in the Eid festivities to mark the end of his very first Ramadan. This playful tabbed board book, with a foil-stamped cover, makes a great holiday gift for all fans of Curious George—those who celebrate Ramadan, and those who are learning about it for the first time!

A heartbreakingly hopeful #ownvoices novel in verse about an Indian American girl whose life is turned upside down when her mother is diagnosed with leukemia. Reha feels torn between two worlds: school, where she ' s the only Indian American student, and home, with her family ' s traditions and holidays. But Reha ' s parents don ' t understand why she ' s conflicted—they only notice when Reha doesn ' t meet their strict expectations. Reha feels disconnected from her mother, or Amma, although their names are linked—Reha means " star " and Punam means " moon " —but they are a universe apart. Then Reha finds out that her Amma is sick. Really sick. Reha, who dreams of becoming a doctor even though she can ' t stomach the sight of blood, is determined to make her Amma well again. She ' ll be the perfect daughter, if it means saving her Amma ' s life. From Indies Introduce author Rajani LaRocca comes a radiant story about the ties that bind and how to go on in the face of unthinkable loss. This is the perfect next read for fans of Jasmine Warga and Thanh h à L i.

Astronomy-loving Calliope June has Tourette syndrome, so she sometimes makes faces or noises that she doesn't mean to make. When she and her mother move yet again, she tries to hide her TS. But it isn't long before the kids at her new school realize she's different. Only Calliope's neighbor, who is also the popular student body president, sees her as she truly is—an interesting person and a good friend. But is he brave enough to take their friendship public? As Calliope navigates school, she must also face her mother's new relationship and the fact that they might be moving—again—just as she starts to make friends and finally accept her differences. Ellie Terry's affecting debut will speak to a wide audience about being true to oneself.
