Enjoy Your Stay will prepare students for the English language tasks that they will face in tourism and hospitality settings. Unlike other texts, this book actively involves the students in activities that will prepare them for many of the situations they will encounter. Activities have been coded to indicate the amount of time it might take and also the learning situation (teacher directing students, students interacting in groups, and students working individually). Vocabulary and expressions needed for different tasks/activities are presented in helpful Useful Words and Phrases boxes throughout the units. Practical grammar practice has been integrated into many of the communicative activities. Many units have listening activities, and expansion activities that use the Internet are included as well. The book is packaged with an audio CD.

research has primarily resorted to the use of quantitative data collection instruments and the interpretation of scores calculated through them. As such, studies in the field can seem somewhat decontextualized, ignoring in some cases setting-specific parameters. Therefore, further study is needed to bring together theory, research, and practice demonstrating how this teaching is reflected in research design and how it is undertaken in different settings. Intercultural Foreign Language Teaching and Learning in Higher Education Contexts is an essential reference source that provides a series of rich insights into the way intercultural education is practiced in numerous international contexts and showcases practical examples of teaching situations and classroom activities that demonstrate its impact within the classroom. Featuring research on topics such as higher education, multilingualism, and professionalism, this book is ideally designed for educators, researchers, administrators, professionals, academicians, and students seeking pedagogical guidance on intercultural teaching.

Like several other Asian countries, Malaysia uses English for a variety of official, professional and everyday purposes. Many Malaysians use English alongside their first language, typically Malay, Chinese or Tamil, but have a particular need for English if they are to succeed in their careers. What is special about this book is that it looks under the surface of the use of English, and shows how the teaching of English is tailored to bring this language situation about, by applying recent developments in the study of English and of English Language Teaching. It deals with questions such as the use of corpora in language teaching, and investigates some of the obstacles young Malaysians face in acquiring the necessary command of English. Issues investigated include the link between lack of proficiency and lack of motivation, the effect of examinations and the 'washback' effect, and the problems of academic writing. Other chapters deal with English in the workplace, including doctor-patient communication, the communication challenges facing tour guides, and gender-based differences in the learning of computer skills. The book will be of great value to anyone professionally involved with global English, 'glocalisation' or language contact, including teachers, publishers and language planners, especially those concerned with the use of global English in Asia.
